Each member of the Technical Commission can resign at any time by sending a letter to the president or the secretary of the Commission, who shall forward it to the CEB Board.

The CEB Board after having taken the advice of the president and the secretary of the Technical Commission, or at the request of the president and the secretary of the Technical Commission, may at any time dismiss a member of the Commission who would show excessive passivity, in particular by not taking part in meetings of the Commission or by not answering the correspondence addressed to him.

4. Meetings

A meeting of the Technical Commission may be convened by the president or at the request of two of its members. They shall be chaired by the president or the secretary.

As far as possible account shall be taken of the presence of the members of the commission at international competitions in order to organise meetings there. In the meantime the members consult each other using the technical means available (videoconference, e-mail, etc.).

Decisions are taken by a majority of the members present at the meeting or consulted. The members of the Technical Commission must take a position on all requests presented to them, they cannot abstain.

The convocation and the minutes of the meetings of the Technical Commission must be sent to the members of the Technical Commission and to the CEB Board.
